RETURN TO TRAINING

- Before you return to the pitch please make sure you have read and understood all the updated guidelines for what you need to put in place for a safe return to training.
- Within the following document you will find a bank of content that we hope will help you create suitable sessions for working with Children & Young People as they return to football.
- Whilst you will be keen to return to training we also would strongly recommend the use of the variety of 4v4 and other small sided game formats – Let Them Play!
- The emphasis should be on fun and enjoyment and coaches should create sessions which as far as possible use limited equipment and maximise game time.

RETURN TO TRAINING

- After a break from training it is important that we don't push ourselves too hard and cause an increased risk of injury.
- Although 'physical fitness' is something that may have decreased during this break we should still keep our main focus on fun and enjoyment in addition to technical & tactical development.
- Although we can work on these areas and improve 'physical fitness' using some of the following activities in this document.

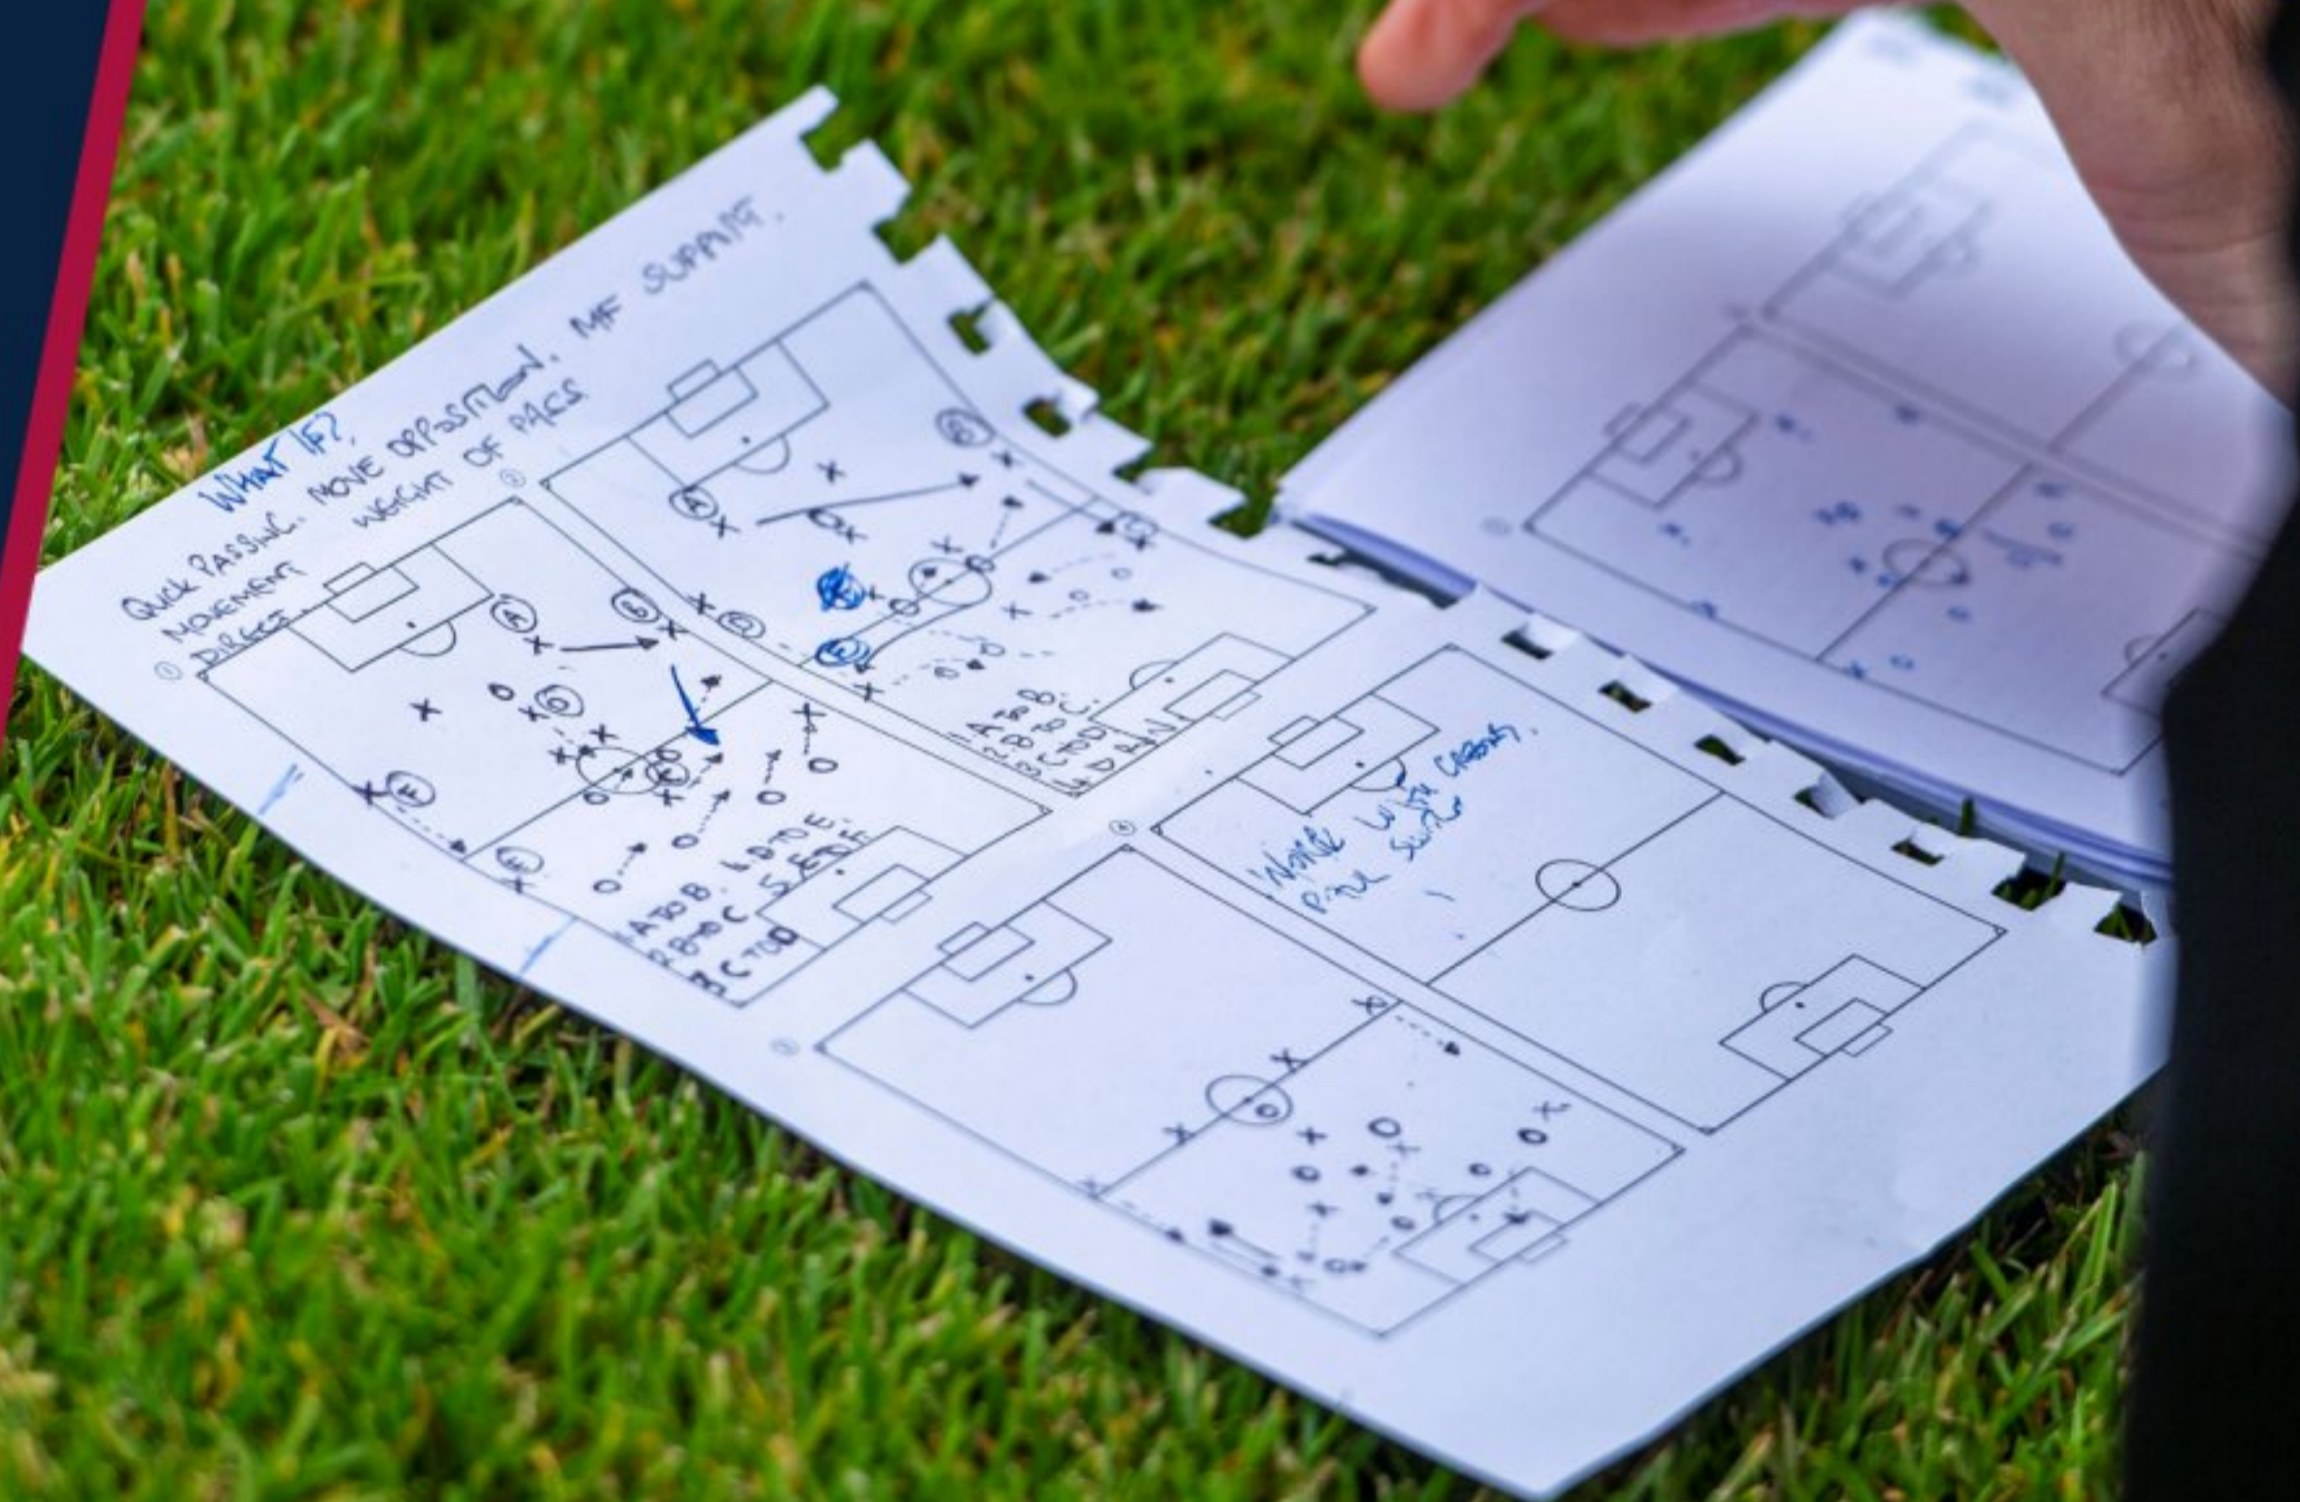

RETURN TO TRAINING

- The activities in this document cover a variety of different technical session components as well as physical fitness activities.
- You should make sure that the activity is appropriate for the age and stage of player.
- The work:rest ratios should also be used for that specific activity.
- Finally players should stay well hydrated at all times drinking plenty of water with regular small sips from their own bottle.

SESSION COMPONENTS

SESSION COMPONENTS

Coaches should plan sessions in advance and ensure games and fun activities form the cornerstone of every session. Below is a suggested approach but please ensure the focus is on letting them play!

Warm Up

A vital part of a teams preparation for training. They should aim to do increase heart rate, body temperature and help prepare players mentally for the session. Can be delivered with or without the ball.

Skill Practice/Drills

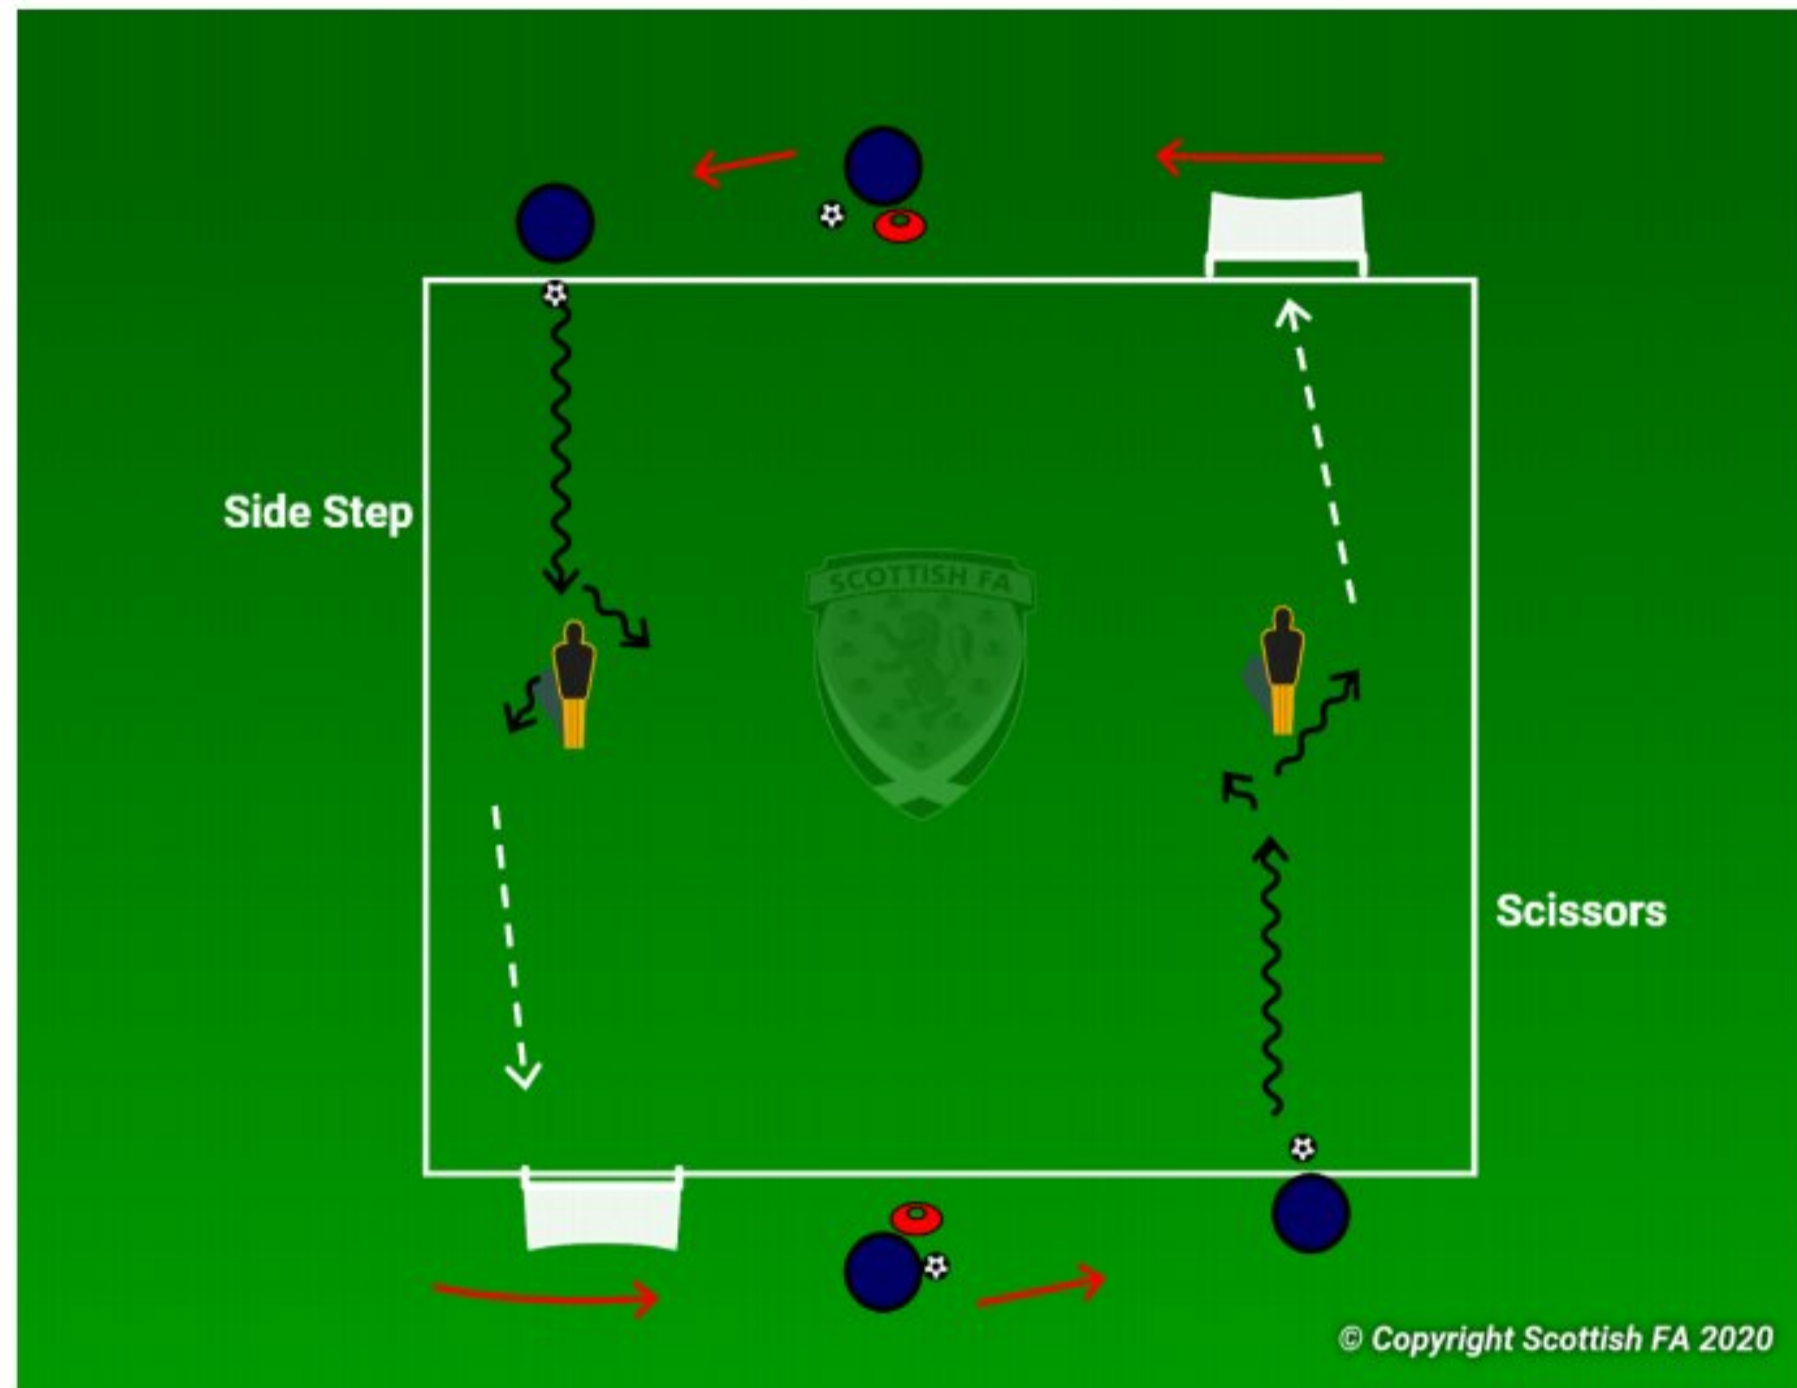

Activities that allow for the maximum repetition of a particular technical skill without opposition.

Challenge Games

Can be used to create a fun but competitive learning environment for your players with an opportunity for "hidden learning" to take place on technical aspects of the game.

Conditioning Activities

Football related activities that focus both on physical fitness and conditioning as well as technical skill development.
